Thank you. Yes. I agree. EPA HQ should try to attend. I'll also alert Lynda Hall and Steve Sweeney, so we're all in the loop and can decide collectively which of us should be there.

Jeff/Don--

Just wanted to give you a heads up that CSO is planning a discussion on the OR CZARA lawsuit at their upcoming Legal Council meeting at part of their annual CSO Members meeting in DC. The meeting is slated for Wed. March 5th at the Hall of States. Still waiting for details on exactly what they want to focus on/session objectives but this may be something that EPA/GC should attend as well. Will keep you posted as I learn more.

Allison

Thanks for the note Allison. It would be great if you could join us to give us your perspectives. I will send you our draft agenda by Monday (I am traveling but I should have access to our shared drive at my destination). It would be nice to have someone from EPA join us too. The legal council meeting is much smaller than the members meeting, and intended as an opportunity for lawyers to take part in discussions of the most important legal issues of the year. Obviously the Oregon lawsuit is a biggie. We will put it on a conference line, so more people can take part.

I will be in touch next week. I am behind in sending out invitations so I appreciate your getting in contact.
With regards,
Mary

Hi Mary--

Joelle mentioned you may be thinking about reserving some time for 6217 during the CSO Legal Council Meeting. Do you have a sense of what specifically you'd like to discuss and how you would like NOAA (and possibly EPA) involved?

Happy to be involved, just let me know.

Allison
